LAURENTIAN UNIVERSITY'S OFFICIAL STUDENT PAPER

THE LAMBDA FIRST ANNUAL SPRING BREAK, PSEUDO-SWIMSUIT ISSUE

Bilingual Universities

By: Faiz A. Sheikh

Of the 88 universities in Canada, only four are bilingual, of which Laurentian and Univ. of Sudbury are two. Whereas the other two universities are located in the capital. They are the University of Ottawa and St. Paul University.

Laurentian University and University of Sudbury were not created to be bilingual because of a commitment to bilingualism, as an idea but rather created to serve particular groups of people.

Our education in Sudbury does not go back 150 years, like McGill but does go back 75 years, or 55 years before the Official Language Act.

Like other universities outside of Quebec that use French, Laurentian's roots go back to the effort of the church, to insure that young French Canadians have an opportunity to receive an education in their own language and in the context of their own religious traditions.

According to Dr. Daniel "We are in a unique situation at Laurentian, only bilingual universities outside of Ottawa are both right here on this campus, thus it is very important for the S.G.A. to hold a bilingual week when we reflect on unique features of our university."

SGA RELEASES FIGURES

by Paul R. Gatto

On Monday night, the S.G.A. released the financial figures for the 1989 carnay week. The S.G.A. managed to create a debt of $5,347.00. The debt, included $1,250 for the band OVER THE GARDEN WALL and $800. for the band EYEEYE. The total profit for the week, $12,138.00, was overwhelmed by the $16,350.0 of expenses.

Debt was also incurred earlier during the school year with the S.G.A. Ender Bender project. Ender Bender, a multi band open air concert held at the end of frosh week, realized a debt in the $5,300. range. Despite the use of popular band Northern Pikes, which cost $1,750 for the appearance, the S.G.A. was unable to turn a profit.

SGA UPDATE

By: Faiz A. Sheikh

At the Feb. 13th, 1989 council meeting, S.G.A. elected the C.R.O. Chief Returning Officer, for the upcoming elections, which are to be held sometime in March. Dave Williams was elected C.R.O.

As C.R.O. Dave hopes to increase the awareness of the Campaign, attempt to let candidates run for office, from both exiting SGA executive and students who are not yet active with student government. The most important aspect that Dave hopes to fulfil is the importance of the elections and how these elections our effecting the entire students body, on campus.

2. Bilingual week of action which was held from Feb. 6th to Feb. 11th was not as successful as hoped, due to a poor turn out.

3. The Blood donor clinic, which was held on Feb. 8, 1989, brought out 160 brave souls to give a donation.

Thank you for coming out.

NO LIFE KNOW HOW

by: Aaron Colomby

I have no shovel and no faith. I also don't understand nay of Edie Brickell's lyrics but everybody says that she has cool guitars on the album. I don't really know too much, so I figure that I'm ignorant enough to talk about abortion. This is one of those topics that falls into the category with free trade, French rights, America and drugs, i.e. there are a lot of times when you just don't talk about them for fear of offending somebody or alienating yourself. But now, there are a lot of pro-lifers on the tube and I am myself kind of tired of them and their moral upheavals. I'm here to take a stand and talk around this controversial subject.

In the past, pro-life people have come across to me as nothing more than middle-class women with disjointed thoughts of society. A lot of Don Quixote types with kids in university, lots of time and a cottages in the Muskokas. This of course, is a prejudiced and condescending view of some people and their beliefs, but I just don't personally agree with many people's motives for doing what they are doing. Many might truly believe in their cause, but they certainly do not speak for all of society, and there are quite a number that have jumped on the bandwagon for whatever reason. This is where this article is coming from and it is not written with any intended malice, only the hope that a point of view may be expressed.

In Ontario since at least the early seventies abortions have not been a difficult thing to obtain. OHIP never covered the cost, but that seems reasonable in itself. However, it was with the arrival of Dr. Morgantaler and his clinics that abortion issue becomes a nightly issue to be discussed, debated or ignored over dinner. Things began to get pretty boring with all the women in fur pointing moral fingers at one another, but they all had their rights, and others had their wrongs. Lots of coverage, a lot of cameras an action that was very reactionary and some older folk got a chance to take another stand on a social issue. But what I see happening in the States is very distressing. The people are still old reactionaries, no furs, but lots of John Lennon songs and people in their most appropriate camping paraphernalia. I'm also assuming that the predominantly white crowd on TV represents the middle class that surrounds most urban areas. (It's that, or the networks would rather show minority races involved in hope or violence, and not the grey areas). What bothers me is that they are obstructing the rights of others to obtain a service that is still their legal right to obtain. Why should anybody who has decided to have an abortion; which must be a very difficult decision to make regardless, have to worry about the judgement of a couple hundred protestors? Who are these people to impose their beliefs on others anyhow? Everything about these people stink. They say that the tactics they are using, peaceful protest, has been borrowed from the civil rights people protests of the past.

The civil rights people have publicly dissassociated themselves from any involvement with these groups. Meaning, that these people are only representing themselves and the attitudes of their perfect communities.

I think it is also fair to assume that many of these people are involved in all that censorship that is going on in and around North Carolina and other related states. What I really wonder about though is why are these people so concerned with ensuring more reproduction when so many people have so little, as it is?

The whole abortion thing is, and always will be, a touchy subject, but it must be thought through before laws and morals are passed. It is my personal opinion that abortion, when responsibility used, is a logical solution to a potentially catastrophic problem. Do you really think that the government of your neighbours are going to be so concerned with morals when food runs short, and why don't these people protest the media black-out of the L.A. gang situation, I mean South Africa. What I'm afraid of is a return to the fifties of television fame. Why be afraid of the future when only the past can haunt you?

A REALLY USEFUL COMPETENCY TEST

by: Victor Daveikis

Sometimes you have to shake your head and wonder, why do they even bother? Take, for example, the English Competency test. Hey, if you can convey the message, fine with me! What we really need is a competency test for using Automated baking machines (ABM). How many times have you been stuck behind some person (kind of like the old-man with hat syndrome) when you're trying to drive somewhere in a hurry? - who can't remember their personal security code or how much money they wanted to take out or what year it is.

The solution to this problem would be quite simple. An applicant for a banking card must first board a bus with a group of prospective card owners and be trucked off to boot camp for a weekend. When they disembark, they are greeted by Louis Gossett Jr. (i.e. of An Officer and a Gentlemen fame), or the drill sergeant from Full Metal Jacket, or, if you have a flair for English, the head prison guard/sergeant major from a Clockwork Orange, (shut your bleeding hole you filthy scum!!)

They suffer through a few hours of steaming verbal abuse, then are shipped off to the "barber", where they get the best haircut they will ever have!! (Yeah, I used to be a sheep shearer 'til they found me). A few minutes of de-lousing, then off to classes, where they spend the new few hours in memory training, button-pushing and grabbing pieces of paper from automated slots.

A hearty meal of cold gravel and laxatives, followed by a sleepless night of garbage-pail licking and toilet scrubbing. The next day, the final test - standing in front of a mock ABM and punching their codes, etc. over and over again while the drill sergeant screams in their ears - "Faster, faster!! - this ain't no chess game, monkey puke!" Faster, (I'm sure a few hours of this would make even the most mild-mannered of customers into a super-card holder!) At graduation, provided the candidates are given their own cards, (having memorized their security numbers first, of course) and set off with the blessings of the bank; once back into society, they go about their everyday drab existences, but they carry their cards with pride, knowing that they have endured what would make most people break down in tears and cry for their mothers! Aye, indeed - that would be a competency test that has some actual important use in society, and who knows, if it works, we can have similar tests for things like Disco D.J.'s, civil servants, political figures, and even University professors (think of it, some university students could use one as well - How to Behave Like an Adult competency testing for students who don't realize this isn't highschool.)

So how about it?? Does it sound good to spend your money on a competency test that really has a bearing on your life? I hope so, anyway, I gotta cut this thing short. I'm late for my "Trying to Write a Humorous Article for a Student Newspaper" competency test.

Have a great holiday everybody!!

JAYS READY FOR SPRING TRAINING

By: Mike Hill

If your like me, the only good news this time of year is that Major League Baseball training camp is just around the corner. For the Toronto Blue Jays, spring training gets into full swing on February 22nd. In the upcoming six weeks, the Jays will practice and host exhibition games at Dundedin, Florida; the Blue Jays home away from home during the "grapefruit" season.

When Toronto signed 3rd baseman, Kelly Gruber to a one year contract last week, the Jays avoided salary arbitration with their eligible players. President, Paul Beeston, dug deep into the bank account this season, signing gold glove shortstop, Tony Fernandez to a 5 year (3 year guaranteed, 2 year option) contract at a reported $9.4 million dollars. Just over a week later, the Jays etched left-hander, Jimmy Key to four year (3 guaranteed, 1 year option) for approx. $7 million. And to top it off, Toronto resigned veteran pitcher, Mike Flannigan to a 2 year, 1.8 million dollar contract. You can bet on a ticket price hike next season!

With contract negotiations out of the way, Toronto can concentrate on one thing at training camp: regaining their form to win the A. L. east in 1989, and hopefully (well maybe) a World Series championship.

The front office has made it known that George Bell will start in left-field this season. Jay's business president, Paul Beeston (who recently visited Sudbury) has come right out and said that Bell will remain in left-field because they have no one to replace him there, not because of his own merit. Bell committed a team high 15 errors in the '89 campaign.

It certainly appears that the Toronto front office is giving in to their players to avoid the fiasco that occurred last season. I'm sure you all remember the "suck-attack" that George Bell took when he was told he was going to become the team's DH. Still it's going to be very interesting how the players respond to the return of

G.M., Jimmy Williams. William's relationship with some of his players (including Bell) is far from being close. We shall certainly find out this year if Williams is a real manager, or just a "puppet", who takes orders from manager, Pat Gillick.

Oh yes, Stand Pat Gillick. It's still over a year and counting that Gillick hasn't made a trade, but the Baseball VP has acquired two free-agents, namely Tom Lawless and Bob Brenly. Lawless, a former St. Louis Cardinal, will fulfill the role as a utility infielder. Brenly was a veteran catcher with the San Francisco Giants. His new position will be that of a designated hitter (from the right side), and will provide back-up in the catching role. Gone from last year's roster are right-handed DH Cecil Fielder, utility outfielder, Rick Leach and veteran pitcher, Jim Clancy, who signed a three year deal with Houston.

With these acquisitions, there really remains only three questions about the 1989 edition of the Toronto Blue Jays.

Firstly, who will be starting in the Toronto outfield in April. From all reports it looks like the tandem of Bell, Barfield and Moseby will take to the field, come opening day. Centre-fielder, Lloyd Moseby, has made it known that his back cannot take the pain of playing on artificial turf everyday. That means someone will probably share the role in centre-field. Cambridge native, Rob Ducey, batted .315 in the last two weeks of the '88 season, and appears to have the inside track over Sil Campusano, another Toronto farm system product. Toronto fans saw Campy start in centre field last year, but showed he still needs time to develop his skills in the minors.

Jess Barfield had another poor season in 1988, batting .244, with 18 home runs and 56 rbi's. He is unquestionably one of the leagues best defensive outfielders, but his bat is the major concern. Jesse hit a league high 40 home runs in 1986, and his numbers have steadily declined since. Barfield will have to put it all together in '89, if Toronto has any chance.

Despite a slow start, George Bell hit .269 with 27 home runs and 97 rbi's. Bell will have to show his patience at the plate, and definitely improve his fielding. Otherwise, get ready for another Bell/Williams confrontation.

The second question is who will start at second base, Manny Lee or Nelson Liriano? Lee played the bulk of the season at 2nd and was a descent .293 at the plate. However, Pat Gillick says don't be surprised to see Liriano at 2nd base. Nelson has better defensive skills and is a bigger base-stealing threat; however, his bat remains a question mark. The job could go either way.

And finally, what will be Toronto's starting pitching look like. On Sportsline last week, Gillick said that he is projecting a 5 man rotation, 4 left handers and a right hander. That means the rotation will include: Dave Steib, Jimmy Key, Mike Flannigan, Jeff Musselman, and John Cerutti. Cerutti worked as a long-reliever out of the bullpen last year, but appears to have become a starter. That leaves 5 spots in the pen. Duane Ward and Tom Henke are shoe-ins, while the other 3 positions will be open to Mark Eichhorn, David Wells, Todd Stottlemire, Jose Nuez and Tony Castillo to battle for.

I would give Stottlemire, Castillo and Nunez the nod. All three are young pitchers with great potential, Stottlemire showing the biggest prospect. Mark Eichhorn has struggled in the last two seasons, and will have his work cut out to regain his job. David Wells came out of nowhere in 1987 and was a fine addition to the bullpen. Wells is a southpaw who can throw the hard stuff. Last year, Wells lasted three months in Toronto and was sent to triple A ball in Syracuse. David lost his consistency in '88 and gave up too many gofer balls. A good spring training from Wells will make the competition for the last 3 pitching spots fierce.

If the February blahs are getting you down, sports fans just remember baseball season is less than eight weeks away!

Stay tuned for more on the Jays and the '89 training camp in upcoming issues.

INTRAMURAL HOCKEY PLAYOFFS

by: Shawn Keba

The Laurentian University Men's Intra-mural Ice Hockey League playoff schedule is complete and the champions have been crowned. U. of S. Stokers A came back from a fourth place finish in the regular season to claim the championship in the Molson Canadian Division, while AEF won top honours in the Molson Export division.

Semi-final action started Sunday, January 29, with the undefeated regular season champions of the Molson Canadian Division, Huntington Hawks, taking on fourth place U. of S. Stokers A. Coming off their second place finish in the SPAD Hockey tournament, the Hawks looked uninspired throughout the entire contest (credit must still be given to U of S. They played solid two-way hockey and were led by Pierre Payeur with two goals and Peter Gibson, who earned the shutout in the 3-0 sudden death playoff victory.

The other Canadian Division semi-final pitted the second place U.C. Unicorns against third place U.S.S.R. on Wednesday, Feb. 1st. The game was very fast paced with the Unicorns moving on to the finals with a 2-1 overtime win U.S.S.R. owned the third period, but couldn't buy a goal. It looked as though they would carry their dominance into the overtime session, but U.C. had other ideas as Kelly Tanner completed a strong game by netting the overtime winner, leading the Corns into the finals.

The best of three Canadian Division final started Feb. 6th U. of S. was considered the underdog heading into the playoffs, but continued to prove their skeptics wrong with a come from behind 2-1 victory over the favour Unicorns. The Corns opened the scoring at 7:50 of the first period with a goal by Roger Yates, but were shut down the rest of the way by the strong stokers defence U. of S. got goals from Ron Sartor and Shawn Retty in the third period to win a hard fought game and take the important 1-0 lead in the series.

Feb. 8 saw U.C. faced with a must-win situation in game two. Unfortunately, for them, U of S came out flying and played arguably their best game of the season, manhandling the Corns with a series clinching 5-0 win. U.C. was never in the match and were completely shut down by U of S. U of S allowed only one goal in its three playoff games, proving that defence wins in the playoffs. Good goaltending doesn't hurt either, as Peter Gibson had his second straight shutout of the playoffs, earning him playoff MVP honours in the Canadian division. U of S goals were scored by Sartor with 2, Peter Gallant, Mario Bisson, and Retty. U of S definitely proved that they were underserving of the underdog role with this convincing 5-0 victory and a sweep of the Molson Canadian Division championship series.

The Molson Export division playoffs started January 30th with AEF taking on the Northern Ontario Funnels in a sudden death semi-final match between the second and third place teams respectively. AEF was the better team on this night with a 5-1 lambasting of the Funnels. AEF was led by Stephanie Gauthier and Norman Bouffard who both had a goal and an assist in the win. The No Funnels clearly missed Lynn Poste and Margaret Thompson behind the bench in this game.

The first place and undefeated Commerce Greenbacks were up against the fourth place finishers, SSR devils, in the other export division semi-final. The Devils played as they did all season, above themselves, with a gutsy performance, unfortunately for them a tie doesn't count in the playoffs and they lost in overtime 5-4. Lorrie Owen-Turner completed the hat trick with the overtime winner for Commerce. Strong games were also played by Commerce forward, Dave Zivkovic, who had a goal and 3 assists and Kyle Reid and Todd Pecjak in a losing effort for the devils. Special mention goes to Peter Hall and Delwin behind the benches of Commerce and SSR respectively. Fine job men!

The Commerce win set up a best of three final showdown versus AEF in the ex-division. The first game was played Feb. 1. This proved to be one of the best and most entertaining game of the season with AEF winning 4-3. It was typical playoff hockey. Up and down throughout and very clean, ending 2-2 after regulation time. The overtime didn't settle anything and the game had to be decided in a sudden death shootout. Both teams scored on their first opportunities, but Paul Brideau came up big in goal for AEF on the second shot, making the save, while Bouffard scored the winner. It's a shame someone had to lose this exciting battle.

Game 2 of the final series had commerce with their backs up against the wall, needing a victory to set up a third and decisive game. Commerce got the important win by a 3-1 score, led by Tom Nicholls and Cliff Printess in the nets. Unfortunately, for Commerce, Nicholls received a misconduct in the waning minutes and would be required to miss the third and final game.

The anticipation for a great game 3 was there, Feb. 8th, unfortunately commerce wasn't.

They missed the on-ice leadership of Nicholls and were walloped by a final score of 6-0. AEF played a great game and never really let Commerce get into the game. Brideau had the shutout and goals were scored by Dan Sigouin, Marc Fleury, 2 by Marc Seguin, Bob Leclear, and Paul Bedard. Stephanie Gauthier was the ex-division playoff MVP with two goals and four assists for AEF in the playoffs.

Third place games in each division were also played Feb. 8 with the losers from the semi-finals up against each other. In the Molson Export division SSR Devils played NO funnels, while Huntington and USSR played for third in the Molson Canadian division. The ex-division clash was won by the NO funnels 6-4 as poste and Thompson were back behind the bench. Goal scorers for the funnels were Bill McKenzie with the hat trick, Jim Noryskio with 2, and a single from Randy Winters.

Dale Hooper, Todd Proulx, Tom heating and Luc Miniquette tallied for the devils. Also playing well for the Devils were Steve Corrigan with 3 assists and Steve Moulton USSR claimed third in the Canadian div. 3-2, with the winning goal scored by Franch Kuznic on a penalty shot with 16 seconds remaining on the clock. The 2 other goals for USSR were scored by Brent Mclean, also having strong games for USSR were Jamie Cassles, Marc Bergeron and Peter O'Brien. Marksmen for Huntington in a losing cause were Len Johnston and Mike Page, a strong game was played by Hawks centremen, Ron Hodgkinson.

The convenors of the league would like to thank Bell Grove Arena, intra-mural co-ordinator, Dorothy Pitzel, referee in chief Steve O'Donnell, Molson Breweries with continued support of the L.U. intra-mural program, and Dale Hooper of Gatorade for all contributing to a successful season. A thank you also goes to the fans who came out to root for their teams, and a very special thanks goes out to the officials and the players who, without, there would have been no league. We hope to see everyone next year!

LADY VEES WIN BATTLE FOR FIRST

By: Mike Hill

The Laurentian Lady Vees basketball team finished up with the regular season road schedule this past weekend, with victories over the Ryerson Lady Rams and the university of Toronto Lady Blues. The win over Toronto virtually assures the lady Vees of a first place finish in the OWIAA east division. Laurentian's road record is a perfect 6-0 in league play.

On Friday, Feb. 10th, the Lady Vees took on Ryerson in an uncontested match. Laurentian held a 40 - 7 halftime lead and coasted to an easy 87-31 victory. The Ryerson loss extended their losing streak to a perfect 0-11. High scorers in the game were Louise Boulanger with 17 points, Chantal St. Martin with 16 and Christine Stapleton with 12 points. St. Martin and Stapleton each had 7 rebounds in the game. Laurentian Coach, Peter Ennis said his whole team played very well and was able to give all his players lots of playing time.

The following evening, it was the battle for first place, as Lady Vees went up against the second place U. of T. Lady Blues. In their previous meeting at L.U. the lady Vees pulled off a convincing 77-63 win. This time, Toronto had the home court advantage, but it didn't help much.

Laurentian came out strong early in the game, but let up and found themselves down by 9, late in first half. However, the women's team fought back, led by Shirlene McLean who canned a three-pointer and sunk two foul shots. Kelly Edwards scored a basket before the halftime buzzer to tie the game at 35-35.

In the second half, the Lady Vees scored six quick answered points and widened their lead to ten points in the second period. Mary Anne Kewal of Toronto hit a three pointer before the buzzer, but it was too little too late, as Laurentian defeated U. of T. for the second time this year, 75-69.

Chantal St. Martin led the way for the Lady Vees with 24 points, while Shirlene McLean and Christine Stapleton had 18 and 10 points respectively. Stapleton was the top rebounder with 7. Mary Ann Kowal was Toronto's high scorer with 27 points. Laurentian was 47 9 from the field, and a strong 85% (31/37) from the foul line.

Laurentian Head Coach, Peter Ennis said his team played a tentative first half, but offensively executed well in the second half. "Everyone picked up the slack" he said. "It was a total team effort" added Lady Vees guard, Louise Boulanger. Ennis was especially pleased of the play of rookie guard Sue Foy, who did a good job defensively against Mary Ann Kowal of Toronto.

Two weeks ago, the Lady Vees were knocked out of the CIAU rankings after losing to the York Yoewomen. Last week, Laurentian reentered the rankings at the #10 position after #9 MacMaster lost to the unranked Brock women's team. With the victory over U of T., the Lady Vees will move to #9 over even #8, as one of 10 best women's basketball teams in the country.

The Lady Vees round out their regular season schedule this weekend, when they hosted Carleton Univ. women's team on Sat Feb. 18th at 8:30 p.m. A Laurentian victory will sew up first place in the OWIAA East division.

Playoff time for the Lady Vees is just around the corner. The Laurentian squad will travel to Wilfrid Laurier Univ. on March 2, to take part in the OWIAA finals. One week later, (March 9-11) the Lady vees will host the CIAU Women's Basketball championships, as the nation's top 8 teams (including Laurentian) will battle for the national title. Stay tuned for more information on the CIAU's after the break.

Don't forget the Lady Vees take on Carleton at 8:30 p.m. on Feb. 18th.

Good luck girls!

BASKETBALL VEES CLINCH SECOND PLACE

By: Mike Hill

The Laurentian Men's basketball team rounded out their OUAA regular season road schedule this past weekend, defeating the hapless Ryerson Rams, and almost upset the #3 ranked University of Toronto Blues, losing to OUAA East leading Blues by 3 points. The victory over Ryerson assured the Vees of a second place finish in the Central Division.

If there's one word which describes the Voyageurs's season so far, it's almost. At the University of Alberta Golden Bears tournament in November, 1988, the Vees held a late lead over last year's CIAU champions, the Brandon Bobcats, but lost by five points. Two weeks ago, Laurentian outplayed the #7 ranked (now #9) Concordia Stingers for 38 minutes but lost 79-77. A week later, the men's team held a 7 point half-time lead against the U. of T. Blues, only to lose by a 3 pointer. Believe me, the Voyageurs won't settle for "almost" when the playoffs roll around in two weeks. First, the Ryerson game:

The Laurentian Voyageurs travelled to Toronto on Feb. 10th, and went up against the Ryerson Rams. The Vees jumped out to an early lead and went to the changing room at halftime up 51-44, in a wide-open first half. Lloyd Pollard led the way in the opening period with 15 points.

The Vees did a better job defensively in the second half, limiting the Rams to 14 points in 15 minutes. Meanwhile, Laurentian continued their offensive success, adding 55 more points to their total. Ryerson sent the Vees to the fall line for the last three minutes, which backfired. Dave Gommers came off the bench late in the game, and scored ten points (10/10) from the foul line. Laurentian went on to a 106-87 victory.

Vees coach, Peter Campbell said his team did not play a good defensive game in the first half, but improved in the second. "Everyone that came off the bench contributed in the game", Campbell added. In fact, everyone except 1 player scored at least 2 points.

High scorers in the game were Lloyd Pollard with 21 points, Paul Falco - 16 points, and Walter Johnson - 13 points. Johnson also had 12 rebounds in the victory.

The next night, the Voyageurs met up with the 13-1 U. of T. Blues, and gave the Blues a real score, losing 71-68 to the #3 ranked team in the nation. The Vees had their outside game going in the first half, and rolled up a 7 point lead in the first twenty minutes, ahead of Toronto 38-31 at halftime. Once again, Lloyd Pollard was the top first half scorer with 15 points, while Norm Hann and Rod Gilpin each had 5 points. The score was tied 51-51 midway through the final period and remained close up to the final buzzer. The Voyageurs got burnt late in the game after the Laurentian squad took a time out.

The official handed Toronto the ball immediately after the time-out expired without a single Laurentian player in the court. Toronto's Nick Saul scored a 3 pointer on the play. An obviously upset Peter Campbell argued with the officials, but only received a technical for his efforts. Toronto scored on both shots, and added 5 points to their lead. Campbell explained that his team did not hear the time-out buzzer, nor did the officials contact him.

The play proved costly as the Vees were only down by three points late in the game. The Vees had possession in last few seconds, but were unsuccessful in attempting to score a 3 to tie the game. The final score was 71-68.

Laurentian's top scorers were Lloyd Pollard with 28 points, Norm Hann - 12 points, and Rob Gillespie with 8. Pollard had 9 rebounds, while Paul Falco had 9 assists.

Coach Campbell was very pleased with his team's defence, limiting Toronto's offence to 71 points. The Vees kept Toronto to 77 points when the Blues travelled to Sudbury in January. These have been U. of T.'s lowest offensive scores this season.

With the weekend victory over Ryerson, combined with losses by York and Queen's the Vees have locked up second place in the OUAA central division, posting an 8-8 record.

The men's team wrap up their regular season schedule this weekend, when they host the Bishop's Gators on Feb. 17th at 8:00 p.m. and the Carleton University Ravens on Sat. Feb. 18th at 8:30 p.m. Both games are at the Ben Avery gym.

The following weekend, the Laurentian Voyageurs head to Toronto once again for the O.U.A.A. playoffs. The Vees first game (OUAA Central Division semi-final) will be held on Friday, Feb. 24th. If the men's team is successful in that game, they will play in the finals on Saturday night, Feb. 25th, probably against U. of T. For those of you who come from the Toronto area, the Vees would appreciate your support. The playoffs will take place at U. of T.'s gym, namely the Benson building, located at the corner of Harbour and Spadina. And don't forget the Bishop's /Carleton games at the Ben Avery gym this weekend. Good luck guys!!

OUIAA/OUAA INDOOR TRACK AND FIELD

The Voyageurs competed in the Last Chance qualifier in Toronto this weekend, Linda Verner had a good outing as she placed 3rd in the 1000 m. with a time of 3:04.6. This being the first time she ran this race, her time was the 10th best in the nation. Rick Dagenais finished 6th in the 60 m. hurdles with a time of 9.04. He set a new Laurentian record in this event. Jean Claude Lamponda finished with a solid 7th in the 60 m. with a time of 7.1s.

HOCKEY VEES

By: R.W.

The hockey team was in Windsor this past weekend for a doubleheader, with the Lancers. The strong Windsor team pulled through with a victory over the Vees 5-3 on Saturday. Scoring for the Vees were Dennis Castonguay with 1 goal and 2 assists, John Keller and Jasmin Breton each scoring once. Castonguay now only needs 3 points in the teams final two regular season games to break the OUAA career points record.

On Sunday the Vees could not put it together and were blanked 3-0 by the Lancers. The Vees next action is this weekend as they travel to Toronto to take on the Ryerson Rams.

The Vees still hold a two point lead over McMaster for the fourth and final playoff spot in the OUAA West division.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

by Mitch Steele
Troy Tremblay

Recently the intramural basketball league play-offs were completed. In the "A" division, Tristan da CUNHA defeated Zeros for the championship and Alan Clausi defeated Chris Campbell for the consolation. In the "B" division the swash-bucklers defeated Doug Basso for the championship and No Stars downed U. of S. for the consolation.

The season was an experimental year in which three one hour games were played as opposed to 6 or 7 half-hour games. We regret any inconveniences or difficulties caused through re-scheduling of games.

Special thanks to the men's basketball team for supplying the officials, as well as to Molsons for their sponsoring and support of the league.

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK:

Tracy Phelps (women's basketball)

Tracy is a rookie with the Lady Vees basketball team and has been playing very well; Tracy led an injury laidened team to a commanding win over the Ottawa Gee-gees this past weekend, Tracy scored 10 points and had 8 assists from the point guard position.

Jamie Kallio, Gareth Jones, Kari Tikka
(Men's Nordic Ski relay team):

This relay team, consisting of the three skiers, placed first in the past weekends OUAA Nordic skiing finals. With this win and combined with the other finishes the Laurentian Men's Nordic Ski team came away with first place.

FILM REVIEW
by: David Williams

"RAIN MAN" STARRING TOM CRUISE AND DUSTIN HOFFMAN. DIRECTED BY BARRY LEVINSON.

Try this one on for size. Two meticulous actors, perfectionists in their character preparations. Strong personalities to say the least. Combine them with a great story and an excellent script that they're both determined to see produced, and you have one strong, stubborn, immovable stand to see "their movie" made as they want it. Now, bounce about 5 different directors off this cast, hoping one will stick. No such luck. Then along comes Barry Levinson, adept at letting actors "act" as they want (did you see "Good Morning Vietnam"?). Yup, Barry directed Robin Williams in that, if you could call it that. So Cruise and Hoffman get their movie made.

Great! I'm glad they stuck to their guns. Hoffman, the actor of the 70's, and Cruise, arguably the actor of the 80's, found a vehicle for their obsessive personalities. Charlie (Cruise) is a young, wheeling-dealing, exotic car importer in L.A., the epitome of the cut-throat shark in the business waters. He gets his way, no ifs, ands, or buts. When his father dies, Charlie heads home to Cincinnati, not so much to pay his respects to a man who he feels never loved him, but more to see what he gets in the Will. To say he's livid when the estate ($3 million) is left to someone else, someone he doesn't know, is an understatement. His avarice leads him to seek out the benefactor, and it's here that he stumbles upon Raymond (Hoffman). Raymond, his autistic brother, until now unknown to Charlie, is the recipient of the money. Charlie is furious. Raymond can't manage his own life, never mind $3 million. In an effort to recover his fair share (half the money) Charlie kidnaps his brother and head outs across the states to L.A. where he envisions a custody battle ensuring his inheritance.

It's on this trip, by car (Raymond won't fly), that the two actors shine. Hoffman plays his part perfectly, never straying from within his own realm; as an autistic, he lives in his own regimented world, reacting to outside influence, but never interacting. Cruise's character never cracks, although he strains and bends a lot.

He remains defiant of the opinion that Raymond is incapable of understanding what is going on around him. But his heart warms to Raymond at one crucial point, when they both remember a pivotal point in their early upbringing. From then on, the bonds of brotherhood tether Charlie and Raymond together for eternity, something even separation will never breach in severing.

The performances of Cruise and Hoffman are riveting, complete and distinct, but not distant, to the audience or each other. They seem to challenge each other, both as actors as well as characters, and they both meet and exceed this challenge. Their extremities as characters are mediated (with charm, sense, compassion, and warmth) by Charlie's Italian girlfriend. She is the equator to the two poles. But make no mistake, this is Cruise and Hoffman's movie. (And Barry Levinson's too). I'm just glad they got it made!

BRIEFS

The "Rocky Horror Picture Show" was presented at the Fraser Auditorium last Saturday at midnight, as the ultimate event of the Bilingual Week of Action. While the bilingual aspect of the movie escapes me, everybody in attendance had a wail of a time. All of the amenities were present: toast, rice, confetti, water (pistols), newspapers, toilet paper (although conspicuously absent during the "Great Scott" scene), and of course the "Hecklers". By the way, Alex, I don't think they meant it!

Thanks go out to the organizers of the week and this event. Hope you had fun cleaning up!
